Jesus Loves Hells Angels ~ By Barry Felis

Recently, I had a very unusual experience at our January Redondo Pier outreach. After leading several people to Christ, I talked at length with a "Hells Angel" who goes by the name named "Gangster." It was very surreal talking with him about his life, and the life of a Hells Angel Motorcycle Club. He told me that he never killed anyone who didn't deserve it, and he didn't feel any remorse about it at all. Then he told me that Hells Angels' never die. I agreed with him, and told him that no one ever dies spiritually, but that everyone will continue to live in either heaven or hell. He served time in prison and has been with the gang for 41 years. He joined the gang just after getting out of the Army. I just could not believe I was talking to a real "Hells Angel." I had read about them and watched them on TV, but never thought that I would be having a personal conversation with one. As we talked, I told him that God loved him and that Jesus died for his sins and that he needed to trust Christ as his Savior and Lord. He seemed to know everything I was sharing, because his father was a pentecostal preacher. Maybe the seed of the gospel needed to be watered in his heart that night. I know one thing for sure, God loves everyone and He desires that all be saved and come to the knowledge of the truth. I rejoiced that the Lord had arranged our meeting that night on the Redondo Pier. "Some plant, some water, but God gives the increase." I truly hope to see "Gangster" in heaven one day.

Barry talking with Gangster

"Oh, the overwhelming, never-ending, reckless love of God, Oh, it chases me down, fights 'til I'm found, leaves the ninety-nine. I couldn't earn it. I don't deserve it. Still You give Yourself away. Oh, the overwhelming, never-ending reckless love of God!" God, the hound of heaven never gives up on anyone.

My Love Affair with God ~ By Amber Felis

For years I have found myself in and out of relationships. Just because you're a Christian doesn't mean romance goes smooth, I know firsthand. We all thought I would have been married years ago. I think I forced some experiences that would have been better left untouched. I am a strong-willed, tenacious and often, stubborn gal; therefore, it can be challenging for me to walk away, lose or simply let things go.

Last year, after a heart-breaking relationship experience, I began to really seek God in this area. Was He trying to tell me I am called to be single for the rest of my life? Perhaps, not necessarily single, but what is he wanting to teach me through these ups and downs? I finally felt a breakthrough after my last "break-up!" God showed me I was trying hard to settle, when He has something much better planned for my future.

The scripture He gave me was Matthew 6:33, "Seek first the kingdom of God and all these things will be added unto you!" There is no heartbreak when loving God first. I'm spending more time praying and reading. Time I used to use trying to figure guys out, or why something wasn't working. Now I feel like I'm falling deeper in love with Christ. I feel satisfied like never before, and I'm much more at peace and joyful! I am so thankful He took me from desperate and despaired to vivacious and valued!

Jesus truly is Love! There's nothing safer than being in love with the creator!

Our Eternal Sabbath ~ By Barry Felis

My good friend Mart Huntermart went to be with the Lord last month. Mart was funny, bullheaded, loving, hard-nosed, a faithful husband and father. Before his death he had told me that the doctor gave him just a few more months to live. I shared with him that God had already decided when, where, and how he would die, as He does for us all. I told him that God's dying grace will be with him as he passes into heaven. I hope my words helped Mart approach his death with the assurance that Jesus is not only with him, but that Jesus will give him all that he needs to graduate into his eternal sabbath rest.

If Jesus doesn't come back for us first, we will all go through the throws of death. Like they say, "Death and Taxes" are the only sure things in this world. It is encouraging to know that the omniscience of God knows precisely how long you are going to remain on earth, and when He decides to take you home, it will be at the right time, at the right place, and in the right way. Until then, nothing can remove you from this life, no person, no circumstance, not even the devil and all the forces of evil, until God decides it is time for the believer to come home, nothing can remove him or her from this life. "We belong to the Lord whether we live or die." You can take that to the bank!
